FACIAL LINE SOFTENING

Botox (trade name for botulinum toxin), is an injectable substance that is used in extremely small doses to temporarily prevent the transmission of nerve impulses to a specific muscle, resulting in the diminished appearance of lines and wrinkles. The treatment involves application of a topical anaesthetic, then a few tiny injections to precise areas of the face. Mild discomfort may be experienced, however, the treatment only takes around 5 -10 minutes and patients usually leave the clinic with no obvious signs that they have had any treatment done at all. The effects are apparent approximately 3-6 days after treatment and can take up to 2 weeks to obtain the final result. The effects generally wear off 3-4 months later but can last up to 6 months. Detailed aftercare instructions are given and a 2 week review appointment is offered following treatment.

DERMAL FILLERS

A gentle and long lasting clear gel is injected into the dermal layer of the skin. The gel contains hyaluronic acid, a substance that occurs naturally in the body to keep the skin hydrated. It can be injected into areas of the face, neck, décolletage and hands to restore volume and elasticity to wrinkles/lines and deep folds, creating a smoother, more youthful appearance. They can also be used to enhance the lips and recontour areas of the face such as the cheeks and chin. The filler contains local anaesthetic to make the injection process a more comfortable experience. Many people report feeling no pain at all during their treatment and have minimum side effects. The effects of the treatment are visible immediately, and any swelling or bruising is usually short-lived and can be camouflaged with make-up. The results can last up to 12 months.

SKIN REHYDRATION TREATMENT

An injectable treatment that offers deep hydration to give a smoother, firmer skin in areas that are often susceptible to sun damage and signs of ageing. The face, neck, décolletage and hands are the areas of the body that are usually exposed to environmental damage and can give away our age or regrettably make us look even older. Many creams may only temporarily moisturise the surface of the skin, therefore deep and effective hydration is fundamental in maintaining a healthy skin tone and elasticity. A course of 3 treatments is recommended, approximately 2 weeks apart.

£180 per individual treatment

HYPERHIDROSIS

This is a condition that involves excessive sweating in the armpits. Unnoticed sweat patches on clothing can be embarrassing and lead to low self esteem. Fortunately, this can be controlled. Topical anaesthetic is applied prior to small amounts of botulinum toxin (botox) being injected into the underarms to prevent the nerve signals that stimulate the sweat glands, thus reducing the amount of sweat in that area. Improvement in the condition can become evident in a few days. Although results can vary, the treatment can last for up to 6 months, or perhaps even longer. A review appointment is given after 4 weeks.

DERMAL ROLLER

A much sought after treatment, also known as micro-medical skin needling. A skin renewal technique that creates a smoother, healthier, younger-looking skin with minimal down time. A topical anaesthetic is applied prior to the dermaroller device being passed over the skin. This creates micro channels which allow increased absorption of applied creams and stimulates the production of collagen and elastin. The skin regenerates and repairs itself as a result of its own natural healing process. The skin can become red and feel similar to sunburn immediately after treatment, however, it usually recovers within 1-2 hours. Usually 3 sessions are recommended approximately 6 weeks apart. The treatment is suitable for most areas of the body. It can be used for skin rejuvenation, anti-wrinkle, acne scarring, stretch marks and pigmentation.

MICRODERMABRASION

A micro-resurfacing treatment that mechanically exfoliates the skin, using a diamond tip and adjustable suction. Microdermabrasion may be performed to help reduce the appearance of fine lines, pigmentation, acne scarring and open pores. The outermost layer of the skin is removed, collagen production is stimulated and skin congestion is relieved by unclogging pores. Microdermabrasion is suitable and beneficial for the face, upper arms, hands and most other areas of the body. It is a superb skin prep prior to other treatments such as milia (whitehead) and comedone (blackhead) removal, self tan application or make up application for a forthcoming event. Skin is slower to slough off as we age, therefore regular and thorough exfoliation is essential to keep skin fresh and radiant. This is a pleasant treatment and one of the most popular aesthetic procedures performed.
